NEW YORK — Throngs were expected to crowd St. Jerome's Roman Catholic Church in the Bronx today for the funeral of Edward J. Flynn, 61-year-old Bronx politician and a member of the Democratic National Committee who died in Dublin Monday. More than 4,500 persons led by Mayor Impellitteri crowded the funeral home where the body lay in state last night.

Check Tall Tale

JERSEY CITY — Henry W. "The Dutchman" Grunwald today remained in a psychiatric ward after reciting a "fantastic" story about how he and a woman happened to be in a gas-filled Jersey City apartment. Both he and Mrs. Ann Anderson, 45, were reported in good condition after being found unconscious from gas fumes in the flat.

2 Die By Poison

NEW YORK — Police today listed the champagne and cyanide cocktail deaths of a health department doctor and his wife as double suicide. Their bodies were found last night on the kitchen floor of their apartment in the Bronx. The victims were identified as Dr. William Fraden, 53, and his wife, Shirley, 50.

Jersey Police Nab Youthful Firebug At Blaze Scene

COLUMBUS, N. J., Aug. 22 — A 17-year-old tenant farmer's son, yesterday admitted setting six barn fires in Burlington county, because he "liked to help firemen fight the fires."

The youth, Lester B. Lee, had been held by State Police for questioning in connection with five of the fires. After being released yesterday, he returned home and allegedly set fire to a barn on his father's farm, according to authorities.

He was arrested at the scene of the fire by State Trooper George Dann and Chief of Detectives G. Clinton Zeller. Firemen said the latest fire completely leveled a two-story barn on the farm of his father, Lester Lee. The farm is located on Route 206, a half mile north of Columbus.

Total damage taken by the six fires, all of which were located within a 10-mile radius, was estimated at $184,000.

In a statement, Lee said he drove to all the fires and aided firemen in putting out the flames. He said "he enjoyed pulling farm machinery from the burning building."

The latest blaze was discovered early yesterday afternoon by Joshua Coulter and William Stafford, both of Columbus, electricians who were working on the Lee farm. They said they smelled smoke coming from the barn and spread the alarm.

Volunteer firemen from Columbus, Bordentown and Jobstown fought the blaze but were unable to save the barn. They were able to keep the fire from spreading to nearby buildings.

Commissioners Vote To Okay Lone Pipe Bid

Police Pay Hike Action Deferred Till Next Meeting

EMILIE, Aug. 22—The Bristol Township Board of Commissioners, at a meeting yesterday afternoon in the police station, voted to accept the bid of the U. S. Concrete Pipe Company for 600 feet of concrete culvert pipe for drainage of Park avenue.

The concrete pipe company, the only bidder, submitted a bid of $1590, which was opened and read publicly at the meeting. Penn Valley Construction Company will install the pipe, the commissioners said.

The commissioners directed Township Solicitor Robert Baker to draw up a resolution awarding the contract to the pipe company. The resolution will probably be voted on Tuesday, when the commissioners will meet here at 7:30 p. m.

The proposed pay increase for members of the township police force forme is expected to be discussed.

The commissioners announced that last Friday, at an "executive session meeting," they voted to request that a 45-acre tract of land, the farm of Albert Schwartz, be rezoned from R-1 residential to M-2 heavy manufacturing. George Sottung, president of the commissioners, said Schwartz is selling the land to C. J. Langenfelder, Inc., contractors building the eastern extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Langenfelder will dig up the area for fill to be used in turnpike construction, Sottung said, and the township will have an opportunity to buy 10 to 35 acres of the land in November, 1954. The commissioners are considering using the mined-out land as a township dump.

A hearing will be held on the zoning change September 3.

In the course of yesterday's meeting, the commissioners went into executive session.

Commissioner Eugene Stutz announced that at the last regular meeting, the commissioners moved to order the closing of a dump on Main street, Croydon.

Spill From Tractor Injures Worker

CROYDON, Aug. 22 — Curtis Aiken, 23, Jamaica, Long Island, was injured yesterday morning when the grading tractor he was operating hit a large stone in the road. The sudden impact threw him over the side of the wheel to the ground where the grader ran over his body.

The Bucks County Rescue Squad, called to the scene of lawn grading operations on the Tullytown-Fallsington road in the vicinity of the Thornridge section of Levittown, transported Aiken to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J., where he was discharged after treatment.

His injury was listed as abrasions of the leg.

Aiken is in the employ of Ralph Pascucci, lawn landscaper, and contractor for the grading operations.

In other transportation cases last night, the rescue squad took Mrs. Ada Rassmussen, 210 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, to Nazareth Hospital, Phila., and Mrs. George Neill, 3111 Rogers road, West Bristol, to Episcopal Hospital, Philadelphia.

'Hunger' Blamed For Traffic Tie-up

Hunger appears to be bottling up Beaver street, near Route 13, despite borough action in banning parking on both sides of the busy artery.

A sandwich truck which parks daily at the Kaiser Metal Products plant entrance attracts plant workers and other motorists, who stop their cars behind the mobile feeding unit or across the street, reducing traffic clearance to the pre-parking ban width. The congestion on Beaver street resulting from the food truck and its customers leaves two slow-moving, hazardous lanes, motorists report.

Three Queens and a Courtier

PLAYGROUND QUEENS crowned yesterday at Jefferson Avenue School by Miss Martha Berglund, queen of Bristol and Lower Bucks County display their prizes standing in front of Miss Berglund and Borough Playground Director Paul Brown. Isabelle Belmonte, 5, left, junior playground queen, was St. Ann's playground entry in beauty pageant. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Belmonte, 418 Logan street. Senior queen is 10-year-old Rosemarie Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wood, 628 Bath street, representing Jefferson avenue playground.

Judges, with Brown, were instructors Barbara Yerkes, of Jefferson avenue playground; May Ann Boyd, Wood street playground; and Maybeth Brown, Bath street playground. Miss Berglund is also a playground instructor.

Garbage Law Orders All Trucks Covered

Private garbage collectors in Bristol township are now required to equip their trucks with covers, as the result of an ordinance passed last week by Bristol Township Board of Commissioners.

The ordinance requires that the truck must be partly covered while garbage and rubbish is being loaded. While traveling, the truck must be covered so none of the trash will fall or blow off. The truck must be tight, so liquids from the refuse will not leak or spill.

Though a cover has not been required in the past, it is not felt that the new requirement will put any of the collectors out of business, according to Robert Baker, attorney for the board. "We discussed the ordinance pretty thoroughly in terms of small business. We have not required a metal cover, but any cover that will keep the garbage from blowing or spilling," he said.

Truck Inspection

All trucks will be inspected when their owners apply for permits to collect garbage and permits will be granted only when trucks comply with the ordinance. As in the past, permits will be $25 each. Formerly each collector required only one permit. Under the new ordinance a collector must have a permit for each truck.

The permits will be issued January 1 and will be good for one year, expiring December 31. A collector taking out a permit after June 30, will only be charged $15. "Permits issued in the past, under the previous ordinance, will continue to be recognized until they expire," according to Baker.

The ordinance makes provision

Cars Damaged In Collision After Midnight

Two cars were damaged in an accident at Pond street and Farragut avenue shortly after midnight, borough police reported, after one tried to enter Fillmore street against the one-way line of traffic.

Officers Matthew Bragg and John Chichilitti said a car driven by George Warchol, of 116 Taylor street, traveling south on West Street, pulled across Pond street, tried to go the wrong way on Fillmore and then collided with a car heading east on Pond street toward Fillmore.

The driver of the second vehicle was identified as William Abate, of 257 Cleveland street. The right doors, windows and fenders of Warchol's car were damaged, the officers said, while Abate's car was damaged on the hood, grill, headlights and fenders, with both doors sprung.

Police said Warchol will receive a summons for reckless driving.

Dumping Probed

EMILIE, Aug. 22—Bristol township police are investigating the dumping of large river pebbles on the road at the intersection of Route 413 and Route 13.

The stones apparently spill from trucks passing the intersection, Police Chief John R. Stewart said.

DONORS AID

The Bristol Blood Donors yesterday took Mrs. Catherine Silk, 83, of 304 Jefferson avenue, to a Norristown Hospital.

Sewage Probe Will Continue, Board Says

Earlier Reports Of Completion Flayed As False

The Bristol Township Board of Health is still in the process of investigating the protest by the Fergusonville Community Center regarding "the offensive odors and noise emanating from" the $1,000,000 sewage disposal plant now operating in a half-completed state south of Newportville.

Health Officer Charles Simpson this morning scored as false a published report that members of the Bristol Township Board of Health found the charges unfounded.

Emphasizing that the investigation is still on, Simpson declared, "In all cases when a sufficient number of people make a complaint, there must be some basis for the complaint. However, three preliminary investigations at the site have failed, so far, to substantiate the complaint by the Fergusonville residents."

Will Continue

"This may be due to any number of special conditions obtaining only at the particular moment of our visit. The Bristol Township Board of Health will certainly continue the investigation until such time as they are ready to make an official conclusive and final report on the matter."

Yesterday other members of the board concurred in Simpson's view of the situation. They are Doctors Samuel Katz, Edward Laing and Alonzo Gonzales.

The protest made Aug. 4 in the form of a letter by the Fergusonville Community Center under the signature of Roy Hansen, secretary, charged that "residents of this area have noticed these odors at intermittent intervals on certain days, and all day long on other days."

"In view of our strong protest against the location of the sewage plant when it was first brought to our attention, we feel that every effort should be made to compel the responsible authorities to live up to their assurances that there would be no odor or unpleasantness caused by operation of the sewage plant," the text read.

The plant, which is 60 per cent completed and operating only in primary phases, is owned by the Falls Township Authority. It handles sewage disposal for residents of Fairless Hills and contiguous areas.

Meeting Set

Early this week, John Collins, chairman of the authority announced a meeting of the authority to be held on the evening of Aug. 26 in the authority's office in the Fairless Hills Shopping Center.

Collins has said the meeting is not a regular one and is being called to take up "pending business." He said Howard LeDun, Harbinger to the sewage disposal plant, isburg consulting engineer at would attend.

Communists Say Neshaminy G. I. Died In Prison

NESHAMINY, Aug. 22 — Cpl. Bernard P. Dougherty, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Dougherty, Evergreen avenue, was listed yesterday as reported by the Communists to have died in prison or escaped.

The list was released yesterday by the Defense Department in Washington. In a telegram to the Dougherty home, the Defense Department warned that in no case had the reports been verified.

Cpl. Dougherty, a graduate of St. Joseph's School, Hallowell, attended Hattboro high school. He enlisted in April, 1949, and has been missing since before Christmas, 1950. His parents were notified that he was a prisoner of war in January 1951.

Cpl. Dougherty's father, a retired South Philadelphia tavern owner, said last night that both he and his wife have hopes that their son may have escaped and is not dead.

The Dougherty's have another son, Jack, a veteran of World War II and a graduate of Villanova College.

Coming Sales Tax Irks Merchants

Text of Tax Law

CONSUMERS SALES AND USE AND STORAGE TAX REGULATIONS

The Consumers Sales Tax is imposed upon each retail sale of tangible personal property within Pennsylvania which is not expressly exempt. The tax is payable by the consumer to the seller, who in turn remits it to the Department of Revenue.

The Use and Storage Tax complements the Consumers Sales Tax, and applies to the use or other consumption of tangible personal property within Pennsylvania on which sales tax has not been paid. In some cases, an out-of-state seller may collect the tax and transmit it to the Department of Revenue, but in other cases the use tax will be payable directly to the Department by the consumer.

Section 406 of the Consumers Sales Tax Act and Section 406 of the Use and Storage Tax Act both authorize the Department to adopt rules and regulations pertaining to the administration of the taxes imposed by those acts. The Department is also authorized to alter or amend such regulations in any manner it considers advisable.

The following regulations have been adopted and promulgated by the Department for the purpose of administering such taxes, and for the guidance of sellers, consumers and other parties required to pay, collect or remit these taxes. Additional regulations will be issued from time to time for the purpose of clarifying and enforcing the provisions of these acts.

Chapter I IMPOSITION OF TAX REGULATION 101 — TAX ON SALES AT RETAIL

The Consumers Sales Tax is imposed upon each separate sale at retail within this Commonwealth.

A sale at retail is any transaction by which the ownership of tangible personal property is transferred for a consideration when such transfer is made to the transferee for consumption or use.

Tangible personal property means goods, wares and merchandise, and other forms of corporeal personal property. It does not include (a) land or real estate; (b) money, deposits in banks, shares of stock, bonds, notes, credits or evidence of an interest in property, or evidence of debts; (c) contracts of insurance; (d) the performance of personal services.

Taxable sales include any rental, bailment lease, conditional sale and any other transaction under whatever name or form, whereby title being retained for security is ultimately to pass to the purchaser, or whereby possession is transferred in lieu of a transfer of title as more fully explained in Regulation 102.

Every sale at retail as above set forth is taxable unless expressly exempted by these regulations.

REGULATION 102—RENTALS

Persons engaged in the business of making bona fide leases or rentals of tangible personal property, not in lieu of a transfer of title, are not making retail sales taxable under the Consumers Sales Tax Act. Such persons are consumers of the property which they purchase for rental.

Persons engaged in the business of furnishing coats, caps, aprons, dresses, towels, linens and other articles of a similar nature to bartenders, beauty parlors and other establishments under an agreement which provides for a continuous service to be rendered in the periodic cleaning or laundering of such articles, are deemed to be the ultimate consumers of the tangible personal property required to be used by them in the rendering of such service, and therefore are not required to pay the tax on receipts therefrom, unless such agreement comes within the meaning of transfer of possession in lieu of a transfer of title.

The renting or leasing of film by an exhibitor from a distributor is not considered a sale at retail, as that term is used in the Consumers Sales Tax Act.

Any rental or lease agreement, whereby possession is transferred in lieu of a transfer of title, is a sale at retail, and tax must be collected by the lessor on such rental payments. Possession is transferred in lieu of a transfer of title when:

1. The personal property rented can not be purchased outright; or
2. Possession remains, or is intended to remain, in one lessee for a period extensive enough to result in a substantial consumption of the property, or for such period as would result in a substantial reduction in the useful life of the property, unless the property is repaired, renewed or rebuilt.

If a person who purchases property under an Exemption Certificate rents the property to others he must pay tax on such purchase to the Department based upon the cost of the property to him. If, however, he makes no other use of the property (except retention, demonstration, or display) than the rental of it while holding it for sale, he may elect to pay the tax measured by the rental receipts in lieu of the cost of the property to him.

If a purchaser so elects, all receipts from leasing or hiring of the tangible personal property with respect to which such election has been made, must be included in the measure of the tax. Complete and accurate records must be kept, clearly identifying the property leased or rented, showing the cost price and from whom purchased. Tax applies to the sale of the property following its use in rental service, without any deduction on account of tax paid, measured either by the cost of the property or by the rental receipts.

Chapter 2 EXEMPTIONS REGULATION 201 — EXEMPT SALES

The following sales, as more fully explained in subsequent regulations, are exempt from the consumer's sales tax:

- (1) Sales for resale (Regulation 211, et seq.)
- (2) Isolated sales, other than of motor vehicles, trailers, and semitrailers (Regulation 221)
- (3) Sales of certain commodities which are otherwise taxed for State purposes, e. g., intoxicating liquors, cigarettes, motor fuels and certain utility services (Regulation 231, et seq.)
- (4) Sales to governmental agencies (Regulation 241,242)
- (5) Sales in interstate and foreign commerce (Regulation 251)
- (6) Sales of property becoming an ingredient or component part of other property or which is to be consumed in the production thereof, including manufacturing, agriculture and the production of public services or is to be used in the production or delivery of public utility service (Regulation 261, et seq.)
- (7) Sales of building materials for use under contracts entered into prior to September 1, 1953 (Regulation 271)
- (8) Sales of all other items specifically exempted by statute, including newspapers, medicine and other physical aids, food products, clothing, property for religious purposes and water. (Regulation 31, et seq.)
- (9) The performance of personal service. (Regulation 215).

REGULATION 202 — SALES PRESUMED TO BE AT RETAIL

Every sale of tangible personal property is presumed to be at retail, and to be taxable. The seller may require any purchaser who claims that a sale is not taxable to give him a written statement, signed by the purchaser and giving his address, certifying that the tangible personal property, the subject of the sale, is purchased for a purpose not included in the definition of "sale at retail." If he fails to collect a tax on any sale, where he does not obtain such a written statement from the purchaser, the seller is liable for the tax, unless he sustains the burden of proving that the sale was not at retail.

When a person regularly purchases tangible personal property in an exempt transaction, the seller may receive a Blanket Exemption Certificate on a form approved by the Department in lieu of receiving

Customers and Clerks Affected, Dealers Foresee

The State sales tax looming over local businessmen has already begun to cast shadows of anxiety and confusion and at least one merchant questioned by The Courier as to what preparations he is making for the onset of the tax said he would take great pains not to get up on Sept. 1.

Such a desperate reaction, however, was not the common one voiced by businessmen in the area yesterday, although all agreed the tax would initiate a round of "headaches."

Most of the merchants questioned said their greatest problem would arise from the necessity for making separate tax entries in their books, a situation involving either the need for hiring extra clerical help or extending the time of book-keeping employees on the job.

Fear Nuisance

Larger businesses, however, were fearful that the nuisance features of toeing the line on all phases of State regulations covering tax collection might alienate their customers and contribute to a general harassed and anxious corps of salespeople.

Morris Singer, who operates Singer Bros., a men's outfitter's business at 367 Mill street, said he was thankful his store did not carry too great a variety of items.

He thought "not too much of a problem" would arise over the sale of wearing apparel, on which the tax could be computed without too much trouble, but he foresaw trouble in keeping up with the sale of neckties, jewelry and wallets, all large-volume sellers.

Singer's greatest fear, however, was in falling behind in the daily tabulations of official records to be submitted to Harrisburg. Although the latest information from Harrisburg indicated reviews of sales for tax purposes would be required only four times yearly, Singer indicated he would try to effect monthly tabulations so as "not to have it clog up on me."

Gets Form

He said he had already received an official form from Harrisburg which he had to sign signifying he understood all the provisions for taxing certain items and letting others by untaxed.

He tagged the whole operation as "the most idiotic thing I've ever heard of" and "very confusing."

Norman Vogel, president of the Mill Street Businessmen's Association, and manager of McCrory's 5- and 10-cent store on Mill street, agreed the whole situation would add up to "an awful headache."

Vogel noted the "headaches" involved in keeping a separate account for the tax and the need for hiring extra bookkeepers, but, he said these phases of the problem would be handled by higher echelons in the McCrory firm.

He was most fearful, he indicated, of the adverse effect on customers and salespeople.

Views Possibilities

Aside from the necessity for briefing 60 to 80 employees on provisions of the tax he saw them as a harassed lot of young ladies after confusion on the part of customers had a chance to touch them.

At first, the newness of processing the tax would most certainly result in numerous errors which would involve the bookkeepers in many additional headaches until the errors were found and corrected.

Another problem he foresaw was inherent in the nature of the kind of articles sold at McCrory's—all low-priced, so that it might require as many as five or six items to add up to a dollar or more, the point at which the tax would have to be increased.

In a store so highly departmentalized, with a different salesgirl at every counter, he said bedlam could conceivably result with the claims of customers that they had already paid the tax at another counter and that they couldn't see why they should be held up for

Earlier Reports Of Completion Flayed As False

The Bristol Township Board of Health is still in the process of investigating the protest by the Fergusonville Community Center regarding "the offensive odors and noise emanating from" the $1,000,000 sewage disposal plant now operating in a half-completed state south of Newportville.

Health Officer Charles Simpson this morning scored as false a published report that members of the Bristol Township Board of Health found the charges unfounded.

Emphasizing that the investigation is still on, Simpson declared, "In all cases when a sufficient number of people make a complaint, there must be some basis for the complaint. However, three preliminary investigations at the site have failed, so far, to substantiate the complaint by the Fergusonville residents."

Will Continue
"This may be due to any number of special conditions obtaining only at the particular moment of our visit. The Bristol Township Board of Health will certainly continue the investigation until such time as they are ready to make an official conclusive and final report on the matter."

Yesterday other members of the board concurred in Simpson's view of the situation. They are Doctors Samuel Katz, Edward Laing and Alonzo Gonzales.

The protest made Aug. 4 in the form of a letter by the Fergusonville Community Center under the signature of Roy Hansen, secretary, charged that "residents of this area have noticed these odors at intermittent intervals on certain days, and all day long on other days."

"In view of our strong protest against the location of the sewage plant when it was first brought to our attention, we feel that every effort should be made to compel the responsible authorities to live up to their assurances that there would be no odor or unpleasantness caused by operation of the sewage plant," the text read.

The plant, which is 60 per cent completed and operating only in primary phases, is owned by the Falls Township Authority. It handles sewage disposal for residents of Fairless Hills and contiguous areas.

Meeting Set

Early this week, John Collins, chairman of the authority announced a meeting of the authority to be held on the evening of Aug. 26 in the authority's office in the Fairless Hills Shopping Center.

Collins has said the meeting is not a regular one and is being called to take up "pending business." He said Howard LeDun, hatched to the sewage disposal plant, is a resident of the authority and would attend.

Communists Say Neshaminy G. I. Died In Prison

NESHAMINY, Aug. 22 — Cpl. Bernard P. Dougherty, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Dougherty, Evergreen avenue, was listed yesterday as reported by the Communists to have died in prison or escaped.

The list was released yesterday by the Defense Department in Washington. In a telegram to the Dougherty home, the Defense Department warned that in no case had the reports been verified.

Cpl. Dougherty, a graduate of St. Joseph's School, Hallowell, attended Hathboro high school. He enlisted in April, 1949, and has been missing since before Christmas, 1950. His parents were notified that he was a prisoner of war in January 1951.

Cpl. Dougherty's father, a retired South Philadelphia tavern owner, said last night that both he and his wife have hopes that their son may have escaped and is not dead.

The Dougherty's have another son, Jack, a veteran of World War II and a graduate of Villanova College.

Coming Sales Tax Irks Merchants

Text of Tax Law

CONSUMERS SALES AND USE AND STORAGE TAX REGULATIONS

The Consumers Sales Tax is imposed upon each retail sale of tangible personal property within Pennsylvania which is not expressly exempt. The tax is payable by the consumer to the seller, who in turn remits it to the Department of Revenue.

The Use and Storage Tax complements the Consumers Sales Tax, and applies to the use or other consumption of tangible personal property within Pennsylvania on which sales tax has not been paid. In some cases, an out-of-state seller may collect the tax and transmit it to the Department of Revenue, but in other cases the use tax will be payable directly to the Department by the consumer.

Section 406 of the Consumers Sales Tax Act and Section 406 of the Use and Storage Tax Act both authorize the Department to adopt rules and regulations pertaining to the administration of the taxes imposed by those acts. The Department is also authorized to alter or amend such regulations in any manner it considers advisable.

The following regulations have been adopted and promulgated by the Department for the purpose of administering such taxes, and for the guidance of sellers, consumers and other parties required to pay, collect or remit these taxes. Additional regulations will be issued from time to time for the purpose of clarifying and enforcing the provisions of these acts.

Chapter I

IMPOSITION OF TAX REGULATION 101 — TAX ON SALES AT RETAIL

The Consumers Sales Tax is imposed upon each separate sale at retail within this Commonwealth.

A sale at retail is any transaction by which the ownership of tangible personal property is transferred for a consideration when such transfer is made to the transferee for consumption or use.

Tangible personal property means goods, wares and merchandise, and other forms of corporeal personal property. It does not include (a) land or real estate; (b) money, deposits in banks, shares of stock, bonds, notes, credits or evidence of an interest in property, or evidence of debts; (c) contracts of insurance; (d) the performance of personal services.

Taxable sales include any rental, bailment lease, conditional sale and any other transaction under whatever name or form, whereby title is retained for security is ultimately to pass to the purchaser, or whereby possession is transferred in lieu of a transfer of title as more fully explained in Regulation 102.

Every sale at retail as above set forth is taxable unless expressly exempted by these regulations.

REGULATION 102—RENTALS

Persons engaged in the business of making bona fide leases or rentals of tangible personal property, not in lieu of a transfer of title, are not making retail sales taxable under the Consumers Sales Tax Act. Such persons are consumers of the property which they purchase for rental.

Persons engaged in the business of furnishing coats, caps, aprons, dresses, towels, linens and other articles of a similar nature to barber shops, beauty parlors and other establishments under an agreement which provides for a continuous service to be rendered in the periodic cleaning or laundering of such articles, are deemed to be the ultimate consumers of the tangible personal property required to be used by them in the rendering of such service, and therefore are not required to pay the tax on receipts therefrom, unless such agreement comes within the meaning of transfer of possession in lieu of a transfer of title.

The renting or leasing of film by an exhibitor from a distributor is not considered a sale at retail, as that term is used in the Consumers Sales Tax Act.

Any rental or lease agreement, whereby possession is transferred in lieu of a transfer of title, is a sale at retail, and tax must be collected by the lessor on such rental payments. Possession is transferred in lieu of a transfer of title when:

1. The personal property rented can not be purchased outright; or
2. Possession remains, or is intended to remain, in one lessee for a period extensive enough to result in a substantial consumption of the property, or for such period as would result in a substantial reduction in the useful life of the property, unless the property is repaired, renewed or rebuilt.

If a person who purchases property under an Exemption Certificate rents the property to others he must pay tax on such purchase to the Department based upon the cost of the property to him. If, however, he makes no other use of the property (except retention, demonstration, or display) than the rental of it while holding it for sale, he may elect to pay the tax measured by the rental receipts in lieu of the cost of the property to him.

If a purchaser so elects, all receipts from leasing or hiring of the tangible personal property with respect to which such election has been made, must be included in the measure of the tax. Complete and accurate records must be kept, clearly identifying the property leased or rented, showing the cost price and from whom purchased. Tax applies to the sale of the property following its use in rental service, without any deduction on account of tax paid, measured either by the cost of the property or by the rental receipts.

Chapter 2

EXEMPTIONS REGULATION 201 — EXEMPT SALES

The following sales, as more fully explained in subsequent regulations, are exempt from the consumer's sales tax:

- (1) Sales for resale (Regulation 211, et seq.)
- (2) Isolated sales, other than of motor vehicles, trailers, and semi-trailers (Regulation 221)
- (3) Sales of certain commodities which are otherwise taxed for State purposes, e.g., intoxicating liquors, cigarettes, motor fuels and certain utility services (Regulation 231, et seq.)
- (4) Sales to governmental agencies (Regulation 241, 242)
- (5) Sales in interstate and foreign commerce (Regulation 251)
- (6) Sales of property becoming an ingredient or component part of other property or which is to be consumed in the production thereof, including manufacturing, agriculture and the production of public services or is to be used in the production or delivery of public utility service (Regulation 261, et seq.)
- (7) Sales of building materials for use under contracts entered into prior to September 1, 1953 (Regulation 271)
- (8) Sales of all other items specifically exempted by statute, including newspapers, medicine and other physical aids, food products, clothing, property for religious purposes and water. (Regulation 31, et seq.)
- (9) The performance of personal service. (Regulation 215).

REGULATION 202 — SALES PRESUMED TO BE AT RETAIL

Every sale of tangible personal property is presumed to be at retail, and to be taxable. The seller may require any purchaser who claims that a sale is not taxable to give him a written statement, signed by the purchaser and giving his address, certifying that the tangible personal property, the subject of the sale, is purchased for a purpose not included in the definition of "sale at retail." If he fails to collect a tax on any sale, where he does not obtain such a written statement from the purchaser, the seller is liable for the tax, unless he sustains the burden of proving that the sale was not at retail.

When a person regularly purchases tangible personal property in an exempt transaction, the seller may receive a Blanket Exemption Certificate on a form approved by the Department in lieu of receiving

Customers and Clerks Affected, Dealers Foresee

The State sales tax looming over local businessmen has already begun to cast shadows of anxiety and confusion and at least one merchant questioned by The Courier as to what preparations he is making for the onset of the tax said he would take great pains not to get up on Sept. 1.

Such a desperate reaction, however, was not the common one voiced by businessmen in the area yesterday, although all agreed the tax would initiate a round of "headaches."

Most of the merchants questioned said their greatest problem would arise from the necessity for making separate tax entries in their books, a situation involving either the need for hiring extra clerical help or extending the time of book-keeping employees on the job.

Fear Nuisance
Larger businesses, however, were fearful that the nuisance features of toeing the line on all phases of State regulations covering tax collection might alienate their customers and contribute to a general harassed and anxious corps of salespeople.

Morris Singer, who operates Singer Bros., a men's outfitter's business at 367 Mill street, said he was thankful his store did not carry too great a variety of items.

He thought "not too much of a problem" would arise over the sale of wearing apparel, on which the tax could be computed without too much trouble, but he foresaw trouble in keeping up with the sale of neckties, jewelry and wallets, all large-volume sellers.

Singer's greatest fear, however, was in falling behind in the daily tabulations of official records to be submitted to Harrisburg. Although the latest information from Harrisburg indicated reviews of sales for tax purposes would be required only four times yearly, Singer indicated he would try to effect monthly tabulations so as "not to have it clog up on me."

Gets Form
He said he had already received an official form from Harrisburg which he had to sign signifying he understood all the provisions for taxing certain items and letting others by untaxed.

He tagged the whole operation as "the most idiotic thing I've ever heard of" and "very confusing."

Norman Vogel, president of the Mill Street Businessmen's Association, and manager of McCrory's 5- and 10-cent store on Mill street, agreed the whole situation would add up to "an awful headache."

Vogel noted the "headaches" involved in keeping a separate account for the tax and the need for hiring extra bookkeepers, but, he said these phases of the problem would be handled by higher echelons in the McCrory firm.

He was most fearful, he indicated, of the adverse effect on customers and salespeople.

Views Possibilities
Aside from the necessity for briefing 60 to 80 employees on provisions of the tax he saw them as a harassed lot of young ladies after confusion on the part of customers had a chance to touch them.

At first, the newness of processing the tax would most certainly result in numerous errors which would involve the bookkeepers in many additional headaches until the errors were found and corrected.

Another problem he foresaw was inherent in the nature of the kind of articles sold at McCrory's—all low-priced, so that it might require as many as five or six items to add up to a dollar or more, the point at which the tax would have to be increased.

In a store so highly departmentalized, with a different salesgirl at every counter, he said bedlam could conceivably result with the claims of customers that they had already paid the tax at another counter and that they couldn't see why they should be held up for

Dump Fire Sends Smoke Over Area, No One Complains

A fire at the Bristol Township dump, Route 13 and Beaver Dam road, sent smoke over the borough last night and this morning, but police, fire and other officials reported they received no complaints.

Bristol Township Commissioner Eugene Stutz, under whose direction a land fill operation is being started to put an end to the burning of refuse, said he believed children started the fire.

Police Chief Linford J. Jones, of Bristol, said no one complained to the borough police, but added that the smoke entered his own home, at 227 Jefferson avenue, Fifth Ward, causing discomfort to his wife, who is suffering from asthma.

In Bristol Township, Chief John R. Stewart said he believed the fire started at 6 p. m., but that no homeowners had complained to him. Fire Chief John Doster, of Edgely, and Bristol Councilmen of the Third, Fourth and Fifth Wards also reported no complaints.

Reports Smoke

Motorists passing Route 13 and Beaver street at 8 a. m. today said smoke was close to the road there, while in the borough, smoke was seen to engulf the top of the tower on the former Grundy Mill.

Stutz said his belief that children maliciously set the dump on fire was based on the fact that in the past authorities caught some 10-year-old children who started fires there.

Fence Planned

A fence being erected around the dump will help keep out arsonists in the future, he said, while in land fill operations, rubbish will be buried instead of burned. Stutz acknowledged that rubbish is still burned at the dump, but said this will soon be stopped.

The township leases the dump from Minot J. Hill, Stutz said, and plans to continue use of it for two years, until burying operations will have completely filled it.

Morrisville Police Spring Speed Trap

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 22—A sixth speed trap has been set up, according to Police Chief John S. Davis. He announced that the new trap is operating on West Trenton avenue, near the borough limits.

He said police plan to enforce the 25-mile-per-hour law there as well as in other parts of the borough. Other traps are located on North Pennsylvania avenue, South Pennsylvania avenue and West Bridge street.

an additional tax gouge.
"What does the State expect to realize by the imposition of this tax—is it about $125,000,000? Well, it's not worth it," he declared. "I'm sure if all the merchants had a chance to avert the tax and its deadening influence on business, we would rather be taxed individually even up to $200 a-piece or more, to keep from alienating the shopping public."

Extra Workers

Vogel also pointed out that the tax would require the hiring of a whole corps of extra workers requiring a lot of extra money from the State in salaries, possibly the hiring of enforcement agents, and the need for printing endless reams of forms and applications.

"The whole thing will turn into a vicious circle," he prophesied. "And once the people who get jobs out of it are entrenched, you'll never be able to recall this law."

Victor Fisher, manager of Levittown's new Sears and Roebuck Co. store, was most concerned with what he foresaw as a "terrific slowdown in service to customers."

He, too, agreed the bookkeeping aspect of keeping up with the tax would add up to many headaches, but he said, that was a "matter for the head office to solve."

Fisher said Sear's main office in Philadelphia called him yesterday to say they were mailing out tax-computing tables which will be posted near all cash registers to simplify the extra work involved for sales people. By referring to the table as she lists purchased items on the sales slip, Fisher said, a clerk should be able to arrive at the tax figure with a minimum of effort and time.

Time Is Trouble

Yet, it was this "minimum" time that bothered him most, he said, because as it accumulated during the course of the business day, he felt the store would be forced to cut down drastically on the amount of "service to customers"

Sears customers had been encouraged to expect from the company.

Other merchants had, more or less, the same complaints to make, those without a great variety of items for sale fearing confusion least, while those facing volume sales and multi-article operations girded themselves for the "greatest nuisance onslaught" in their mercantile lives.

Dump Fire Sends Smoke Over Area, No One Complains

A fire at the Bristol Township dump, Route 13 and Beaver Dam road, sent smoke over the borough last night and this morning, but police, fire and other officials reported they received no complaints. Bristol Township Commissioner Eugene Stutz, under whose direction a land fill operation is being started to put an end to the burning of refuse, said he believed children started the fire.

Police Chief Linford J. Jones, of Bristol, said no one complained to the borough police, but added that the smoke entered his own home, at 227 Jefferson avenue, Fifth Ward, causing discomfort to his wife, who is suffering from asthma.

In Bristol Township, Chief John R. Stewart said he believed the fire started at 6 p. m., but that no homeowners had complained to him. Fire Chief John Doster, of Edgely, and Bristol Councilmen of the Third, Fourth and Fifth Wards also reported no complaints.

Reports Smoke

Motorists passing Route 13 and Beaver street at 8 a. m. today said smoke was close to the road there, while in the borough, smoke was seen to engulf the top of the tower on the former Grundy Mill.

Stutz said his belief that children maliciously set the dump on fire was based on the fact that in the past authorities caught some 10-year-old children who started fires there.

Fence Planned

A fence being erected around the dump will help keep out arsonists in the future, he said, while in land fill operations, rubbish will be buried instead of burned. Stutz acknowledged that rubbish is still burned at the dump, but said this will soon be stopped.

The township leases the dump from Minot J. Hill, Stutz said, and plans to continue use of it for two years, until burying operations will have completely filled it.

Morrisville Police Spring Speed Trap

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 22—A sixth speed trap has been set up, according to Police Chief John S. Davis. He announced that the new trap is operating on West Trenton avenue, near the borough limits.

He said police plan to enforce the 25-mile-per-hour law there as well as in other parts of the borough. Other traps are located on North Pennsylvania avenue, South Pennsylvania avenue and West Bridge street.

Fifth Warders Downed 10-9 By Jefferson A. C.

Jefferson A. C. nosed out Fifth Ward Sporting Club, 10-9, last evening in a Bristol Softball League slugging bee on Memorial field.

Jefferson tapped out 12 hits while the Warders collected eight, safe blows. Included in Jefferson's hits were back-to-back homers by Al Ciambella and Reggie Gerome in the seventh frame. Jefferson scored all its runs in the final three innings.

Fifth Ward staged a fine rally in their last turn with the stick, five runs crossing before the third man was out. In this canto, the Warders made five hits and were helped with three errors.

Frank Writer, of Jefferson, had a two-bagger and pair of singles to his credit while Manager Steve Ciotti also had three hits including a double. Henry Liberatore made two of Fifth Ward's hits.

Although both pitchers were hit freely, they managed to finish the game. Reggie Gerome was the winner and Seddie Caro, the loser.

Monday evening, Auto Boys will play Franklin A. C. for the league championship.

"What does the State expect to realize by the imposition of this tax—is it about $125,000,000? Well, it's not worth it," he declared. "I'm sure if all the merchants had a chance to avert the tax and its deadening influence on business, we would rather be taxed individually even up to $200 a-piece or more, to keep from alienating the shopping public."

Extra Workers

Vogel also pointed out that the tax would require the hiring of a whole corps of extra workers requiring a lot of extra money from the State in salaries, possibly the hiring of enforcement agents, and the need for printing endless reams of forms and applications.

"The whole thing will turn into a vicious circle," he prophesied. "And once the people who get jobs out of it are entrenched, you'll never be able to recall this law."

Victor Fisher, manager of Levittown's New Sears and Roebuck Co. store, was most concerned with what he foresaw as a "terrible slow down in service to customers."

He, too, agreed the bookkeeping aspect of keeping up with the tax would add up to many headaches, but he said, that was a "matter for the head office to solve."

Fisher said Sears' main office in Philadelphia called him yesterday to say they were mailing out tax-computing tables which will be posted near all cash registers to simplify the extra work involved for sales people. By referring to the table as she lists purchased items on the sales slip, Fisher said, a clerk should be able to arrive at the tax figure with a minimum of effort and time.

Time Is Trouble

Yet, it was this "minimum" time that bothered him most, he said, because as it accumulated during the course of the business day, he felt the store would be forced to cut down drastically on the amount of "service to customers" Sears customers had been encouraged to expect from the company.

Other merchants had, more or less, the same complaints to make, those without a great variety of items for sale fearing confusion least, while those facing volume-sales and multi-article operations girded themselves for the "greatest nuisance onslaught" in their mercantile lives.

Lands Open Meetings

Cheers for the action on the part of the Township Commissioners! Their quick appreciation of the public's thoughts will be remembered. From now on, let's have all those meetings open, where we can all see what's going on.

After all, they're spending our money, and we want to know where every dollar is going. But I think they realize that now, at least their statement the other day points to that.

Now let's have the same from some other groups!

for a fee to be charged for dumping at the township dump on Beaver Dam road. The fee is necessary to cover the cost of renting equipment for the sanitary land fill method of dumping now being used, Baker said.

Fees Set
Trucks with a capacity of five tons or over will be charged $1.50 a load. Trucks with a two to five ton capacity will be charged $1.00. For pick-up trucks the fee will be $.50 and for passenger cars, $.25. The fee for trucks will be less, if the truck is not filled to capacity.

Under the new sanitary land fill method, which will be used for the refuse, a large hole is dug by steam shovel and the rubbish and garbage is dumped into it as it arrives. When the hole is full it is covered with about six inches of dirt, by bulldozer.

Eugene Stutz, predicts, "I think our present site at Beaver Dam road is good for about two years, using the sanitary land fill method. We are trying to keep the ground level so we can landscape it eventually."

The new dumping method, recommended by the Bucks County Planning Commission, is designed to cut down on the possibility of dump fires. It has been in use in Bristol township for about a month.

Daughter Of Postmaster is Wed To Medical Student

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 22 —The Roman Catholic Church of St. Charles Borromeo, was the scene of a double ring ceremony this morning at 10 o'clock, Miss Joan Delores Barron, daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. John A. Barron, State road, being wed to Mr. Joseph Lee Mooney, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Mooney, Trenton, N. J. The Very Rev. John L. Nugent officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported lace and nylon tulle over white satin. The fitted lace bodice was made with scalloped neckline and tapered sleeves were long. The bouffant skirt of nylon tulle, with inserts of lace, terminated in a chapel sweep. Her veil of French silk was attached by orange blossoms to a crown of lace and seed pearls over satin. She carried a hand-painted prayer book of satin with trails of ivy and white roses.

Miss Kathleen Barron was maid of honor for her sister, Mrs. Charles Knowles, Phila., another sister, and Misses Teresa Duchala, Summit Hill, and Mary Jean Mack, New Philadelphia, were bridesmaids. Their pale blue waltz length gowns were made with fitted lace bodices and bouffant nylon tulle skirts over taffeta. Jackets of matching tulle, and crowns of blue lace with face veils completed the ensembles. They carried cascades of blue and white pompons and ivy.

Mr. Robert P. Mooney, Trenton, was best man for his brother, Ushers were Mr. John S. Piendok, Wilmington, Del., Mrs. Charles H. Higgins and Mr. Joseph W. Schauer, Jr., Trenton, N. J.

A breakfast for members of the immediate families was served at Sunken Gardens, Melrose. A reception is to be held this evening in St. Charles Hall.

Mrs. Barron, mother of the bride, received in a waltz length dress of chartreuse organza over taffeta with navy blue velvet accessories. She wore an orchid corsage. Mrs. Mooney, mother of the bridegroom, selected a dress of silver green silk with black faille accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

The bride graduated from St. Hubert's High School, Philadelphia, and Misericordia Hospital School of Nursing, Philadelphia. Mr. Mooney was graduated from Trenton Catholic High School, St. Joseph's College, Phila., and is at present in his third year of Medical School at the University of St. Louis, Mo.

Following a trip to the Pocono Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Mooney will reside in St. Louis.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Lehman Strauss, pastor, Calvary Baptist Church

Text: "He said unto me: My grace is sufficient for thee" (11 Cor. 12:9).

There is a thorn in every life. The apostle Paul had his. You have yours. I have mine. Paul's affliction drove him to God in prayer. He says: "For this thing I besought thee Lord." Now how did God answer Paul's prayer? By removing the thorn? Emphatically no! But rather did the Lord assure His child that sublime and sovereign grace would be his satisfying portion.

God will not always grand the spoken request, but He will always give His trusting child what is needed most. Every heartache, every problem, every trial, will prove to be an occasion for God to pour out His grace upon us and thereby perfect our lives. Turn to Him now in childlike trust and you too will find His grace sufficient for your every need.

There is a thorn in every life. The apostle Paul had his. You have yours. I have mine. Paul's affliction drove him to God in prayer. He says: "For this thing I besought thee Lord." Now how did God answer Paul's prayer? By removing the thorn? Emphatically no! But rather did the Lord assure His child that sublime and sovereign grace would be his satisfying portion.

Daughter Of Postmaster is Wed To Medical Student

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 22 —The Roman Catholic Church of St. Charles Borromeo, was the scene of a double ring ceremony this morning at 10 o'clock. Miss Joan Delores Barron, daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. John A. Barron, State road, being wed to Mr. Joseph Lee Mooney, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Mooney, Trenton, N. J. The Very Rev. John L. Nugent officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported lace and nylon tulle over white satin. The fitted lace bodice was made with scalloped neckline and tapered sleeves were long. The bouffant skirt of nylon tulle, with inserts of lace, terminated in a chapel sweep. Her veil of French silk was attached by orange blossoms to a crown of lace and seed pearls over satin. She carried a hand-painted prayer book of satin with trails of ivy and white roses.

Miss Kathleen Barron was maid of honor for her sister, Mrs. Charles Knowles, Phila., another sister, and Misses Teresa Duchala, Summit Hill, and Mary Jean Mack, New Philadelphia, were bridesmaids. Their pale blue waltz length gowns were made with fitted lace bodices and bouffant nylon tulle skirts over taffeta. Jackets of matching tulle, and crowns of blue lace with face veils completed the ensembles. They carried cascades of blue and white pompons and ivy.

Mr. Robert P. Mooney, Trenton, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Mr. John S. Plendok, Wilmington, Del., Mrs. Charles H. Higgins and Mr. Joseph W. Schauer, Jr., Trenton, N. J.

A breakfast for members of the immediate families was served at Sunken Gardens, Melrose. A reception is to be held this evening in St. Charles Hall.

Mrs. Barron, mother of the bride, received in a waltz length dress of chartreuse organza over taffeta with navy blue velvet accessories. She wore an orchid corsage. Mrs. Mooney, mother of the bridegroom, selected a dress of silver green silk with black faille accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

The bride graduated from St. Hubert's High School, Philadelphia, and Misericordia Hospital School of Nursing, Philadelphia. Mr. Mooney was graduated from Trenton Catholic High School, St. Joseph's College, Phila., and is at present in his third year of Medical School at the University of St. Louis, Mo.

Following a trip to the Pocono Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Mooney will reside in St. Louis.

Housing Experts Find Man Homes Lacking in Storage Space

Large Home Designed With Growing Family In Mind

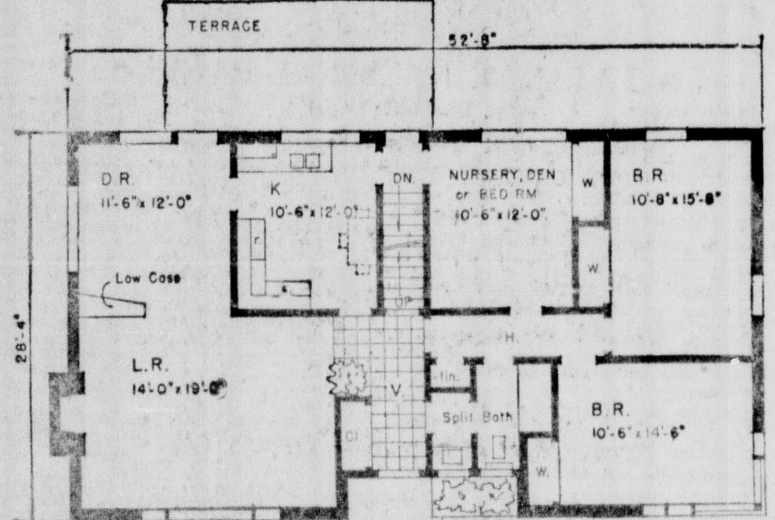

This rather large home—a plan appearing in the current edition of Small Homes Guide—was designed by Architect Elmer Cyllock with the growing family in mind. He therefore included a first-floor room for use as a nursery, den or bedroom, as well as a split bath.

The future second floor includes two large bedrooms, another bath and a dressing area—enough for any family. The area is 1,451 sq. ft. on the first floor, 829 on the second. Information on blueprints and their cost can be obtained by writing to Small Homes Guide, Dept. 1272, 82 W. Washington, Chicago 2, Ill.

FUTURE SECOND FLOOR

Difficulties of Storage May Be Overcome

Is your home good enough?

The housing experts say there is a 50-50 chance it isn't. And most of them agree that the most common failing of many new homes and most older homes is inadequate or inconvenient storage space.

That's not hard to demonstrate. A leading building industry trade journal reports that a housewife's number one need today is built-in storage area. There are 17,000,000 dwelling units in this country, says another national publication, and half or more of them are obsolete judged by today's design standards.

In an older home there are often plenty of cubic feet in an attic or basement but this area is inefficient, old-fashioned storage. Even the standard closet is out of date. All you can do there is hang clothes and stack things on the floor.

New Houses Smaller

What's more, today's new house has been getting smaller and that adds to the problem of space. In 1940, most houses had at least five rooms. Today, the average new house has four rooms and there are 12 million more children under 14 jammed into the nation's housing plant than there were then.

Any way you look at it, most people need more places and better places to put things. Designers agree that large house or small, the most logical solution is built-in storage. This is the most outstanding trend underlying the cluttered "feel" of a well-planned modern home.

This kind of storage ranges from carefully planned kitchen cabinets to an entire storage wall in the living room. The primary construction material is fir plywood. Even where a more exotic wood is used for facing surfaces, fir plywood is the universal material for the structural parts.

More Livability

Built-ins multiply living space in a small home, efficiently substituting for old-fashioned bureaus, buffets, side-boards and cabinet furniture. In a larger home, built-ins account for a substantial degree of livability and comfort.

Today's most popular new homes are marked by the trend in modern design to open-planning—the new "freedom for living"—obtained with partial walls, free-standing island storage units and storage wall partitions.

In an older home, greater livability can be achieved through better organization of existing storage space and addition of strategically located, compact built-in storage units. Usually these are placed against existing walls. The answer in such homes to modernization or remodeling problems is often the installation of the right built-in conveniences. It's a matter of getting the old house to work for you instead of against you.

Financing Easy

When built-in storage is a permanent improvement in the house, financing is easy through FHA. Improvements up to $3,500 can be repaid over a three-year period and you don't need a down payment. Lumber dealers who often function like a department store for the homeowner offer optional methods of financing.

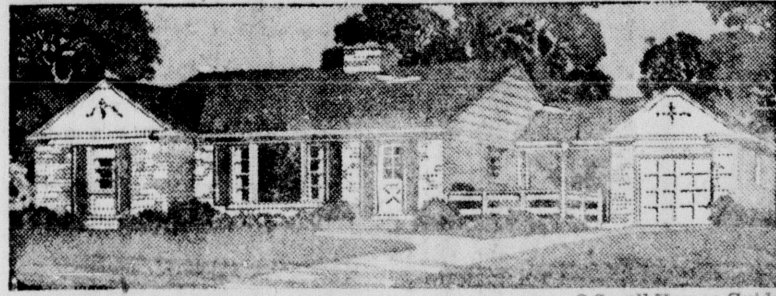

Then there is the newly recognized open-end mortgage which permits borrowing under the existing mortgage as your equity in the house increases. This means you simply extend your payment period in financing improvements.

The open-end system is not yet universally accepted but if you are considering substantial home improvements or financing the purchase of a house, it will pay you to find out about its advantages.

Here's an attractive "outdoor built-in" that is as useful and versatile as it is good looking.

It is designed for construction with just five and a half panels of exterior fir plywood—the panels with waterproof glue. The unit has about 350 cubic feet of well-planned storage space organized in three deep, roomy sections.

Prize Winning Home From Small Homes Guide Is Easy On The Family's Budget

Because the simple lines of this home designed by Architect Erwin H. James make it acceptable to the family that must keep the budget in mind, it was chosen as the prize winning design in the current edition of Small Homes Guide.

Space was allotted jealously when the rooms were laid out, without a square inch wasted. There is almost no hall space; the main bathroom and the powder room off the master bedroom are compactly fitted in; a small area is cut off from the dining-living room to serve as an entry without space taken for a special vestibule; the kitchen is the space saving L-shape.

The den can have a multiple function, serving as nursery and play space for children while Mother is at work in the kitchen; serving to carry traffic that might otherwise flow through the living room; serving its planned purpose as den or home office, or it can be a dining room. The total area is 1,810 sq. ft. Information on blueprints and their cost can be obtained by writing to Small Homes Guide, Dept. 1202, 82 W. Washington, Chicago 2, Ill.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

ned storage space organized in three deep, roomy sections.

It's an all-purpose master storage unit for garden tools and equipment, outdoor dining and barbecue gear, children's toys and miscellaneous tools. There is shelf space for pots and plants, room for a lawn mower, step-ladder, rakes, hoes, spades and brooms.

The door in the outer section comes out during summer months to serve as a table about 4 by 7 feet for dining or garden work center.

Can Be Free Standing

The entire unit can be built free-standing where you want it in the garden. But that is only one possibility. Built at right angles to the house, it forms a work and play center all its own. It can be placed to form one wall of a covered, shaded terrace by adding a roof extending where you want it over the patio. It can also be placed flush against the house or garage.

Many lumber dealers already have plans for this project. The plans are complete with bill of materials, cutting schedules for the plywood and finishing instructions. Cost of materials will not be high. If you can't get them locally, send 10 cents to Douglas Fir Plywood Association, Tacoma, Wash.

U. S. Temperatures Range 200 Degrees

U. S. temperatures have a 200-degree range between the highest and lowest ever recorded, according to Robert Moore Fisher in the current Reader's Digest. The highest: 134 degrees in Death Valley, Calif.

July 10, 1913. The lowest: 66 degrees below zero at Riverside Ranger Station, Yellowstone Park, Wyo., Feb. 9, 1933. The highest wind ever measured in the U. S. was a gust of 231 miles an hour at Mt. Washington, N. H., in April 1934, and the biggest known hailstone was a 1½-pound missile that fell at Potter, Nebr., July 6, 1928.

Financing Easy

When built-in storage is a permanent improvement in the house, financing is easy through FHA. Improvements up to $3,500 can be repaid over a three-year period and you don't need a down payment. Lumber dealers who often function like a department store for the homeowner offer optional methods of financing.

Then there is the newly recognized open-end mortgage which permits borrowing under the existing mortgage as your equity in the house increases. This means you simply extend your payment period in financing improvements.

The open-end system is not yet universally accepted but if you are considering substantial home improvements or financing the purchase of a house, it will pay you to find out about its advantages.

Here's an attractive "outdoor built-in" that is as useful and versatile as it is good looking.

It is designed for construction with just five and a half panels of exterior fir plywood—the panels with waterproof glue. The unit has about 350 cubic feet of well-plan-

Prize Winning Home From Small Homes Guide Is Easy On The Family's Budget

Because the simple lines of this home designed by Architect Erwin H. James make it acceptable to the family that must keep the budget in mind, it was chosen as the prize winning design in the current edition of Small Homes Guide.

Space was allotted jealously when the rooms were laid out, without a square inch wasted. There is almost no hall space; the main bathroom and the powder room off the master bedroom are compactly fitted in; a small area is cut off from the dining-living room to serve as an entry without space taken for a special vestibule; the kitchen is the space saving L-shape.

The den can have a multiple function, serving as nursery and play space for children while Mother is at work in the kitchen; serving to carry traffic that might otherwise flow through the living room; serving its planned purpose as den or home office, or it can be a dining room. The total area is 1,310 sq. ft. Information on blueprints and their cost can be obtained by writing to Small Homes Guide, Dept. 1262, 82 W. Washington, Chicago 2, Ill.

ned storage space organized in three deep, roomy sections.

It's an all-purpose master storage unit for garden tools and equipment, outdoor dining and barbecue gear, children's toys and miscellaneous tools. There is shelf space for pots and plants, room for a lawn mower, step-ladder, rakes, hoes, shovels and brooms.

The door in the outer section comes out during summer months to serve as a table about 4 by 7 feet for dining or garden work center.

Can Be Free Standing

The entire unit can be built free-standing where you want it in the garden. But that is only one possibility. Built at right angles to the house, it forms a work and play center all its own. It can be placed to form one wall of a covered, shaded terrace by adding a roof extending where you want it over the patio. It can also be placed flush against the house or garage.

Many lumber dealers already have plans for this project. The plans are complete with bill of materials, cutting schedules for the plywood and finishing instructions. Cost of materials will not be high. If you can't get them locally, send 10 cents to Douglas Fir Plywood Association, Tacoma, Wash.

U. S. Temperatures Range 200 Degrees

U. S. temperatures have a 200-degree range between the highest and lowest ever recorded, according to Robert Moore Fisher in the current Reader's Digest. The highest: 134 degrees in Death Valley, Calif.,

July 10, 1913. The lowest: 66 degrees below zero at Riverside Ranger Station, Yellowstone Park, Wyo., Feb. 9, 1933. The highest wind ever measured in the U. S. was a gust of 231 miles an hour at Mt. Washington, N. H., in April 1934, and the biggest known hailstone was a 1½-pound missile that fell at Potter, Nebr., July 6, 1928.

Area's Future Rises On Dust of Past

Levittown Houses Spread Across Historic Bolton Farm

So much of the soil of Bucks County is hallowed by its associations with the past that one could scarcely lay down a football field — let alone a city — without disturbing the lingering traces of what has gone before.

It is with mingled emotions that the passerby on the site of the famous "Bolton Farm," between Emile and Fallsington, watches the rapid rise of a section of Levittown on ground closely connected with the early history of Pennsylvania, and thence of the nation and, for that matter, of the world itself.

The "Great Bend" of the Delaware River, the "point" of which is now occupied by Fairless Steel, was one of the cornerstones of the humanity's greatest experiments — the establishment of self-government based on the typically Quaker thesis that individual man himself is divinely inspired with nobility and wisdom.

William Penn was the apotheosis of the doctrine which generations of mankind, inspired by the teachings of Christ, preached over and again — that there is no greater wisdom than the wisdom of the multitude, and that the freest and best government is that which serves them — does not try to dominate or enslave them.

It might just as well have been Penn as Lincoln who said the following:

"Why should there not be a patient confidence in the ultimate justice of the people? Is there any better or equal hope in the world?"

This current age of dictators and despots has rudely challenged these earlier theses. We have, for example, the current dogma that democracies are decadent; that only dictatorships are efficient; that limitations on the power of government are impediments to progress; and that the National Congress, the people's only direct and responsive agency in their government, is a dull-witted aggregation of self-seekers.

Two hundred and fifty years ago mankind stood a bit nearer to the dismal reality of tyranny and serfdom than they do today. The thousand-year reign of feudalism, the "Dark Ages," was recently over; and revolt and insurgent against domineering government was seething throughout the world.

William Penn, by a series of fortunate accidents, became proprietor of a tract of land embracing what is present-day Pennsylvania. Having experimented with the creation of self-governing provinces in New Jersey, Penn welcomed the opportunity to do a complete, full-scale job of establishing a true commonwealth in this virgin territory.

Originally Penn planned to take charge personally, and he built Penn's Manor to be one of his principal seats of government. What actually happened, however, was that disputes in England itself, and disagreements with other colonies over boundaries, so occupied his time that he had little chance to tend to American problems on the scene.

The bulk of the accomplishments which are to be credited to Penn actually were carried out by his devoted assistants faithfully following through with instructions given them in Penn's copious correspondence.

Most noted of these was the man sometimes called "Penn's Surveyor," Phineas Pemberton. He settled in 1682 in a residence he called "Grove Place," sometimes referred to as the Cradle of Pennsylvania — at a location near "The Point," long since swallowed up in the vast operations of the U. S. Steel plant.

Devotion to a cause is a great antidote to fatigue. Pemberton, earnest believer in the cause of liberty of conscience, and liberty of government which had brought Penn to this country, accomplished labors which seem miraculous.

To begin with, he performed the tedious work of assigning grants of land in accordance with Penn's program. Also he was register of wills, clerk of the courts, master of the rolls, register general and recorder of proprietary quit-rents for the province. In the field of colonial government, he was at various times a member of the Provincial Council, member of the Assembly, Speaker of the Assembly, and member of Penn's Council of State.

Where does Bolton Farm come in?

The fact is that, in the period of colonization, the low ground at "The Point" was extremely unhealthy, and Pemberton's family and the friends who came with him died off with appalling rapidity during the first fifteen years.

In 1699 Pemberton decided to abandon Grove Place, and he turned his eyes west to the higher ground which lay five miles distant.

There on a gentle ridge, overlooking the whole of the "Great Bend," Pemberton built a new home, destined to long survive his era, the property known for generations as Bolton Farm; and until recent times the property of Effingham B. Morris; more lately an experimental farm for the University of Pennsylvania.

Now, in the main, this tract is criss-crossed with roadways and dotted with concrete foundations for Levittown Houses.

May one respectfully hope that some few of the newcomers who will shortly reside in these new dwellings, and who will raise their families there, and live out their lives in them, will find some small inheritance of the inspired zeal and vision and dogged persistence which on these and other Bucks County sites contributed so vastly to the progress of the world in the past two and one half centuries.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

SATURDAY, AUGUST 22, 1953

I lift up my hand to heaven, and say I live forever.—De. 32:40. A righteous man does indeed live forever, but our stay on this plane is brief at best, and often full of trouble. We should have eternity in the heart.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 23, 1953

How long will it be ere they believe me, for all the signs which I have showed them.—Lu. 14:11. The signs shown to the ancients pale in comparison with the signs of today. The miracle of the human body is not the result of a long series of accidents. Wise men are amazed at the wonder, full complexity far surpassing the organization of the eternal universe.

Your Birthday

SATURDAY, AUGUST 22—Born today, you are one of those sturdy, self-sufficient souls to whom others are always looking in times of crisis. You have a fine mind, a keen sense of balanced insight and are just in all your decisions. You are warm-hearted and sympathetic to the problems of all those less fortunate than yourself. You are a good organizer and can instruct others clearly to follow out directions.

Originality in both thought and action is your strong forte, but you are also practical and know how to put your ideas into production. You will probably make money during your lifetime, but you will need to learn the lesson of saving a little all the time or you may find yourself in straitened circumstances at some time in later life.

Your passionate nature is strong and it will be well for you to cultivate self-control in this regard. Yet, repression is a step in the wrong direction. An early marriage to someone who thoroughly understands your mercurial nature will be the best thing for you.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, August 23

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—If you have necessary household chores to do, get them out of the way early. Then enjoy yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Plan to get a long week-end out in the country, away from your usual haunts. Relax tensions.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—The house may need minor repairs today. Pitch in and get them done efficiently.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—If this is your annual vacation, take advantage of the late summer. Take a sea trip, if you can.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 23)—If this is the first week-end of your vacation, enjoy it to the full. CAPRICORN (Dec. 24-Jan. 20)—A week-end of country or seaside rest will relax those mounting tensions. Utilize it well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Don't expend too much energy on entertaining lavishly. Simple diversions are the best for you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—If your energies seem to be lagging, see to it that you get plenty of rest. A full quota of sleep helps.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)—Plan a two-day week-end of mental relaxation. Forget you have work to do!

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)—It might be better for you to spend a lazy week-end at home, rather than plan a trip.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—If unexpected visitors from out of town drop in, extend the hospitality of your home.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Make the most of the summer week-end to enjoy Mother Nature. (Distributed by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Area's Future Rises On Dust of Past

Levittown Houses Spread Across Historic Bolton Farm

So much of the soil of Bucks County is hallowed by its associations with the past that one could scarcely lay down a football field — let alone a city — without disturbing the lingering traces of what has gone before.

It is with mingled emotions that the passerby on the site of the famous "Bolton Farm," between Emille and Fallsington, watches the rapid rise of a section of Levittown on ground closely connected with the early history of Pennsylvania, and thence of the nation and, for that matter, of the world itself.

The "Great Bend" of the Delaware River, the "point" of which is now occupied by Fairless Steel, was one of the cornerstones of the humanity's greatest experiments — the establishment of self-government based on the typically Quaker thesis that individual man himself is divinely inspired with nobility and wisdom.

William Penn was the apotheosis of the doctrine which generations of mankind, inspired by the teachings of Christ, preached over and again — that there is no greater wisdom than the wisdom of the multitude, and that the freest and best government is that which serves them — does not try to dominate or enslave them.

It might just as well have been Penn as Lincoln who said the following:

"Why should there not be a patient confidence in the ultimate justice of the people? Is there any better or equal hope in the world?"

This current age of dictators and despots has rudely challenged these earlier theses. We have, for example, the current dogma that democracies are decadent; that only dictatorships are efficient; that limitations on the power of government are impediments to progress; and that the National Congress, the people's only direct and responsive agency in their government, is a dull-witted aggregation of self-seekers.

Two hundred and fifty years ago mankind stood a bit nearer to the dismal reality of tyranny and serfdom than they do today. The thousand-year reign of feudalism, the "Dark Ages," was recently over; and revolt and insurgent against domineering government was seething throughout the world.

William Penn, by a series of fortunate accidents, became proprietor of a tract of land embracing what is present-day Pennsylvania. Having experimented with the creation of self-governing provinces in New Jersey, Penn welcomed the opportunity to do a complete, full-scale job of establishing a true commonwealth in this virgin territory.

Originally Penn planned to take charge personally, and he built Penn's Manor to be one of his principal seats of government. What actually happened, however, was that disputes in England itself, and disagreements with other colonies over boundaries, so occupied his time that he had little chance to tend to American problems on the scene.

The bulk of the accomplishments which are to be credited to Penn actually were carried out by his devoted assistants faithfully following through with instructions given them in Penn's copious correspondence.

Most noted of these was the man sometimes called "Penn's Surveyor," Phineas Pemberton. He settled in 1682 in a residence he called "Grove Place," sometimes referred to as the Cradle of Pennsylvania — at a location near "The Point," long since swallowed up in the vast operations of the U. S. Steel plant.

Devotion to a cause is a great antidote to fatigue. Pemberton, earnest believer in the cause of liberty of conscience, and liberty of government which had brought Penn to this country, accomplished labors which seem miraculous.

To begin with, he performed the tedious work of assigning grants of land in accordance with Penn's program. Also he was register of wills, clerk of the courts, master of the rolls, register general and recorder of proprietary quit-rents for the province. In the field of colonial government, he was at various times a member of the Provincial Council, member of the Assembly, Speaker of the Assembly, and member of Penn's Council of State.

Where does Bolton Farm come in?

The fact is that, in the period of colonization, the low ground at "The Point" was extremely unhealthy, and Pemberton's family and the friends who came with him died off with appalling rapidity during the first fifteen years.

In 1699 Pemberton decided to abandon Grove Place, and he turned his eyes west to the higher ground which lay five miles distant.

There on a gentle ridge, overlooking the whole of the "Great Bend," Pemberton built a new home, destined to long survive his era, the property known for generations as Bolton Farm; and until recent times the property of Effingham B. Morris; more lately an experimental farm for the University of Pennsylvania.

Now, in the main, this tract is criss-crossed with roadways and dotted with concrete foundations for Levittown Houses.

May one respectfully hope that some few of the newcomers who will shortly reside in these new dwellings, and who will raise their families there, and live out their lives in them, will find some small inheritance of the inspired zeal and vision and dogged persistence which on these and other Bucks County sites contributed so vastly to the progress of the world in the past two and one half centuries.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

SATURDAY, AUGUST 22, 1953

I lift up my hand to heaven, and say I live forever.—De. 32:40. A righteous man does indeed live forever, but our stay on this plane is brief at best, and often full of trouble. We should have eternity in the heart.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 23, 1953

How long will it be ere they believe me, for all the signs which I have showed them.—Un. 14:11. The signs shown to the ancients pale in comparison with the signs of today. The miracle of the human body is not the result of a long series of accidents. Wise men are amazed at the wonderful complexity far surpassing the organization of the eternal universe.

Your Birthday

SATURDAY, AUGUST 22—Born today, you have a deep nature which only your closest friends really understand — and sometimes they are not absolutely sure! On one hand, you seem to be very ambitious, energetic and hard-working. Yet, there are other times when you seem actually lazy. There is a continual tug-of-war between your imaginative daydreaming self and the part of you that says you must be always up and "doing" something in life.

Originality in both thought and action is your strong forte, but you are also practical and know how to put your ideas into production. You will probably make money during your lifetime, but you will need to learn the lesson of saving a little all the time or you may find yourself in straitened circumstances at some time in later life.

Your passionate nature is strong and it will be well for you to cultivate self-control in this regard. Yet, repression is a step in the wrong direction. An early marriage to someone who thoroughly understands your mercurial nature will be the best thing for you.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, August 23

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—If you have necessary household chores to do, get them out of the way early. Then enjoy yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Plan to get a long week-end out in the country, away from your usual haunts. Relax tensions.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—The house may need minor repairs today. Pitch in and get them done efficiently.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—If this is your annual vacation, take advantage of the late summer. Take a sea trip, if you can.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 23)—If this is the first week-end of your vacation, enjoy it to the full.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24-Jan. 20)—A week-end of country or seaside rest will relax those mounting tensions. Utilize it well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Don't expend too much energy on entertaining lavishly. Simple diversions are the best for you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—If your energies seem to be lagging, see to it that you get plenty of rest. A full quota of sleep helps.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)—Plan a two-day week-end of mental relaxation. Forget you have work to do!

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)—It might be better for you to spend a lazy week-end at home, rather than plan a trip.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—If unexpected visitors from out of town drop in, extend the hospitality of your home.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Make the most of the summer week-end to enjoy Mother Nature.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 23—Born today, you have a deep nature which only your closest friends really understand — and sometimes they are not absolutely sure! On one hand, you seem to be very ambitious, energetic and hard-working. Yet, there are other times when you seem actually lazy. There is a continual tug-of-war between your imaginative daydreaming self and the part of you that says you must be always up and "doing" something in life.

You have the ability to meet people easily and will have a host of casual acquaintances. Still, your really close friends can be numbered on the fingers of one hand. You rarely confide your true hopes and dreams to others, so that when you do something it appears to be on impulse, although you may have had very careful plans for the project far in advance.

Once you have set your mind to something, you have a great deal of grit and determination. It's just that it sometimes takes you a long time to make the important decision. Procrastination can prove your worst liability. Learn to be decisive.

You are fond of society and you women, especially, are fond of beautiful clothes and jewels. It is very likely that you will make what is considered a "good" marriage.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, August 24

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Spend the day out of doors. Get to the beach for a good sunning, if you possibly can.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Get away from your regular routine. A short trip will refresh you spiritually as well as physically.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Get out of doors. Being close to Mother Nature will relax mounting tensions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—Be sure not to overdo things, if you go on a short trip today. You need rest.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 23)—Your devotional duties should give you fresh inspiration and new hope.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24-Jan. 20)—Don't overdo the process of relaxation! Visit others, rather than entertain.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—If unsettled about your plans for the fall, make out a tentative schedule now.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—A good sermon at the church of your choice will give you needed spiritual uplift.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)—Be cautious of heavy traffic, if driving. Keep an eye on the other fellow, too.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)—Get out into the countryside. The fresh air will do wonders for lagging spirits.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Spend the last days of summer building up your energies for a heavy fall and winter schedule.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—If this is the end of your annual summer vacation, get ready to get back to your regular schedule of work.

Parent Status Deadline Set

HARRISBURG, Aug. 22—Lt. Colonel Henry M. Gross, State Director of Selective Service, states that the new Selective Service Dependency Regulations become effective Aug. 25.

Registrants who have not been ordered for induction must have evidence on file before the deadline with their local boards which establishes that they have dependents or are expectant fathers if they desire consideration for a dependency classification, Gross said.

Information in the form of birth certificates or certificates of pregnancy submitted after Aug. 24 will not, by terms of the new regulations, substantiate a dependency classification although they may be a basis for a hardship classification which is at the discretion of the local boards. Before Aug. 25 such information makes a 3-A classification mandatory if it has been submitted before the registrant was ordered for induction.

Births

Bristol General Hospital
A boy to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rittenhouse, 72 Friendly Lane, Levittown, Thursday, Aug. 20.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Musser, 30 Edgewood Lane, Levittown, Saturday, Aug. 22, in Bristol General Hospital.
